

EconomicRecovery.gov is a new interagency website from the Commerce Department that acts as a resource for the "latest information from government agencies on America's economic recovery for people to keep their homes, find jobs and protect their savings".

It includes an interactive online forum, "Ask the White House." Various help guides include: "Guide to Avoiding Foreclosure" or "Eating Right When Money is Tight". Good to know!